

VISIONEERING Leader's Guide

If you're looking to lead the discussion for a book club, small group, or business team through Visioneering, here are a few steps to get you started:

- In the book, at the end of each chapter, you'll find questions you can go through as a group.
- We recommend tackling one chapter at a time and going through the questions in detail. Give your group plenty of time for discussion. We recommend at least 30 minutes.
- Many of these questions are deep and may provoke meaningful dialogue. Be sensitive to those in your group. Much of what will be discussed could result in major life changes.
- Above all, enjoy the journey of discovery together. A strength of a small group discussion is that every group can have its unique personality.

About VISIONEERING

Everybody ends up somewhere in life.
Wouldn't you like to end up somewhere on purpose?

What breaks your heart?
What keeps you up at night?
What could be that should be?

Andy Stanley believes these questions are bread crumbs that lead to the discovery of personal vision. With down-to-earth practicality, Andy extracts principles from the story of Nehemiah to help you discover your purpose in life.

Visioneering includes helpful exercises and time-tested ideas for visionary decision-making, personal growth, and leadership at home and at work. Catch a glimpse of God's incredible vision for your life, relationships, and business—and discover the passion to follow it.

Includes discussion guide for use in small groups.
